

Harry – gefangen in der Zeit

Begleitmaterialien

Episode 025 – Vocabulary

| German                      | English                              |
|------------------------------------|---|
| Ach ja, ...                        | Oh yes, ...                                 |
| allerdings                         | but   |
| als ob                             | as if                                       |
| an halten                          | to last [for]                               |
| Apfelkuchen (der); -               | apple pie                                   |
| aus                                | from  |
| berühmt                            | famous                                      |
| besuchen                           | to visit                                    |
| bis zu                             | up to                                       |
| da                                 | here  |
| Dame (die); -n                     | lady  |
| dass                               | that  |
| denn                               | because                                     |
| dort                               | there                                       |
| eigentlich                         | actually                                    |
| Elbflorenz (das)                   | nickname for Dresden "Florence on the Elbe" |
| Ende der Woche                     | at the end of the week                      |
| entschuldigen                      | to excuse                                   |
| erst                               | only  |
| freuen [sich]                      | to be pleased                               |
| frischen [frischen Kaffee] (einen) | a freshly brewed [coffee]                   |

Harry – gefangen in der Zeit

Begleitmaterialien

|                           |                            |
|---------------------------|----------------------------|
| gefallen                  | to like                    |
| gerade                    | just                       |
| gleich                    | immediately, in a minute   |
| gut aus sehen             | to look good               |
| Hansestadt (die); -städte | Hanseatic city             |
| hervor holen              | to take out [sth.]         |
| holen                     | to get                     |
| jung                      | young                      |
| Kaffeekränzchen (das); -  | coffee klatsch             |
| Kuchen (der); -           | cake                       |
| Küche (die); -n           | kitchen                    |
| Lebensgefährte (der); -n  | partner, significant other |
| Menschen (die) [Pl.]      | people                     |
| momentan                  | at present / at the moment |
| nötig                     | necessary                  |
| rechnen mit               | to expect                  |
| rein kommen               | to come in                 |
| Rhein (der)               | the Rhine                  |
| romantisch                | romantic                   |
| Schnee (der)              | snow                       |
| Schwabe (der); -n         | Swabian                    |
| Schwäbisch                | Swabian dialect            |
| traurig                   | sad                        |
| unbedingt                 | really, certainly          |

Harry – gefangen in der Zeit

Begleitmaterialien

|                                       |                                 |
|---------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| verabredet sein                       | to have arranged to meet        |
| Vormittag (der); -e                   | morning                         |
| vorstellen                            | to introduce                    |
| Weile (eine)                          | a while                         |
| wieder kommen                         | to come back                    |
| Wintereinbruch (der); Wintereinbrüche | onset of winter                 |
| Wintersachen (die) [Pl.]              | winter clothes                  |
| wunderschön                           | very beautiful                  |
| Überraschung (die); -en               | surprise                        |
| Darf ich vorstellen?                  | May I introduce?                |
| Das Wetter macht, was es will.        | The weather does as it pleases. |
| Entschuldigen Sie mich, bitte.        | Please excuse me.               |
| Es gefällt mir wirklich gut.          | I like it very much.            |
| Freut mich auch.                      | I'm pleased, too.               |
| Kinder! [ugs.]                        | Folks!                          |
| Meine Damen, ...                      | Ladies, ...                     |
| Schön, Sie kennen zu lernen.          | Nice to meet you.               |
| Was für eine Überraschung!            | What a surprise!                |