

Call for Applications

Lecturers for the Master's Program International Media Studies in Bonn

DW Akademie

Academic Education and Training

March 1st, 2024

DW Akademie is Deutsche Welle's center for international media development, journalism training and knowledge transfer. Our projects strengthen the human right to freedom of expression and independent decisions based on reliable facts and constructive dialogue. We stand for free media, free expression, and free societies worldwide.

International Media Studies (IMS) is a four-semester, full-time master's program. The IMS curriculum combines the disciplines of media and development, journalism, communications, and media management.

This unique Master's Program is conducted in English and is designed for young BA graduates primarily from developing and transition countries who have media experience.

The Master's Program trains students – personally and professionally – to be competent media experts. Students will acquire the theoretical knowledge and practical skills that are essential for a career in the media sector. Upon completion of their studies, they will be able to meet specific occupational requirements with expertise and communicative independence.

We are looking for lecturers in the following fields:

- Journalism
- Intercultural Communication
- Methodology / Empirical Methods
- Project Management

Your tasks:

- Independently preparing the lectures corresponding to the module handbook.
- Conveying knowledge at the level of current scientific discourse with a focus on applicability
- Preparing and correcting examination papers

Requirements:

- Completed university education, preferably with a doctorate
- pedagogical or didactical qualifications, teaching experience is desirable
- Fluency in English
- You enjoy working with international students and have a high degree of social and intercultural competencies to pass on your knowledge and experience to our students.

Scope of work:

The contract is based on the hourly assignment per week. The seminars take place weekly- (for 2 hours -, usually 12 weeks per semester).

Lecturers are expected to teach in person in Bonn. (Please note travel costs and accommodation cannot be covered.)

Application:

If you are interested in participating in the IMS programme, please send us your CV, a short letter of motivation (including relevant experience) and your expected hourly rate. The submission deadline is the 25th of March 2024. Please send your documents and any questions you may have at this mail: ims@dw.com